

IN & OUT

PESTANA
POUSADA CONVENTO
ARRAIOS
HISTORIC HOTEL
PORTUGAL

The Pousada was built on the ruins of the 8th century medieval castle.

IN

Book your holiday at Pousada Convento de Arraiolos, a former convent belonging to the St. John the Envagelist religious order, which looked after the poor and sick in Arraiolos. The foundation stone was laid on August 14, 1527 - the eve of the holiday consecrated to Our Lady of the Assumption, and a great time to come here for some rest.

The long and comfortable Noble Room; the fireplace nook with a traditional Alentejo floor fireplace, which will warm your soul and feet in the winter; the terrace in the summer, perfect for reading in the shade of the trees and escaping the Alentejo heat; cloisters and staircases which will shelter you from both the inclement sun and the insidious cold weather.

Lose yourself in Arraiolos, a unique and extraordinary place where you can experience the most authentic Alentejo tradition: forgetting about hurry, and having all the time in the world. Close your eyes and turn off your tablet: at Pousada Convento de Arraiolos you will find out what 'rest' really means.

Legend has it that there is a secret passage connecting Arraiolos Castle to the Pousada.

RESTAURANT OF THE POUSADA

THE PRIDE OF ALENTEJO

Amidst local specialties and international drinks, whether you stay at the bar or dine in the restaurant, everything you taste here will have a different flavor. Choose one of the various outdoor patios for dining or one of the rooms for sipping your drink and discover the flavor of having time to spend. Once you reach Pousada de Arraiolos and enter your room, you will begin your visit to our restaurant.

You will find two presentations: one for Pousada Convento de Arraiolos and the other one for the traditional dishes you can savor at the restaurant.

Pousada de Arraiolos is in itself an excellent reason to get to know the traditional art of tapestry.

OUT

Famous for its colorful woolen carpets, hand-made by several generations of embroiders, Arraiolos harbors, among other treasures, a magnificent medieval castle and winding alleyways surrounded by Baroque churches.

The Arraiolos carpet is part of the most authentic Portuguese handicraft tradition, an object of great prestige displayed in many palaces and noble houses across the country, as well as in most Portuguese homes.

Arraiolos comes across as a compelling testimony of the culture of Alentejo. And if the historical surroundings are charming, wait until you discover local cuisine or taste the region's mouthwatering 'convent sweets'.

TO DO

The best thing about Alentejo is that it offers an incredible variety of things to do, making you feel as if time stretches out so you can do all sorts of things: hunting (rabbits, hares, turtledoves, partridges), canoeing, biking, winery tours, wine tastings, and even kart driving at the Évora Kartodrome.

Festivities in the municipality of Arraiolos bring back memories of past experiences while enlivening the remaining municipalities.

TO SEE

Before leaving Arraiolos, pay a visit to the monumental Stone Fountain, the Castle (14th century), the Church of the Savior (16th century) and the Church of Misericórdia (Baroque).

Afterwards, head to the neighboring towns (Estremoz, Évora and Santana do Campo) and let yourself be dazzled by the endless olive grove landscape, an invitation to enjoy quiet picnics and family walks while unraveling the secrets of the Alentejo plain.

TO EAT

Our suggestion is to set out on the discovery of Alentejo Wines: starting with the Malhadinha Nova Estate (featuring one of the most modern wineries in the region), on to one of the largest vineyards in Europe (Adega das Mouras), and ending with Monte da Ravasqueira, whose wines are quite famous.
