PESTANA
POUSADA
VISEU
HISTORIC HOTEL
PORTUGAL

The foundation stone of this building was laid in 1793.

IN

Reaching Viseu is, in itself, an experience. Located in the mountainous central region, roads and motorways provide you an impressive and majestic view at every turn, encouraging contemplation and inner peace. By following the signs to the historic center, you approach the Pousada de Viseu, without realizing it. Clean streets, well-kept homes and manicured gardens add to the feeling of well-being and tranquility. When you find is the old hospital street, the surprise increases: absolutely stunning, this former hospital, completely rebuilt and adapted by architect Gonçalo Byrne in 2009, is an imposing landmark in the landscape of categorical and more peaceful urban center of Portugal.

It is impossible to remember the past without it being for its grandeur, when contemplating the building, whose construction was ordered by D. Maria I.

“Que viso eu?” (What do I see?) asked a watchman on sighting the enemy. From this expression, Viseu took its name.

CLOISTER OF THE POUSADA

The entrance is jaw-dropping, with its spacious and comfortable cloister, where the various nooks create different environments and where the sky, always visible through contemporary roofing, shows all its natural splendor. Modern lines respect of what the neoclassical space has to offer: the stonework, windows, arches and stairways shine with their own light, enchanting and mesmerizing.

Sit in one of the comfortable brown sofas and watch the white and granite around you: punctuated by a colorful bar area with a grand piano, where guests who know how to play are free to show their skills; the amplitude of the cloister helps to multiply the time by eliminating the rush of their days and their decisions.

This space, which turns into jazz concert hall on Friday and Saturday the piano, helps you to immediately realize the epicurean nature of your stay.

With a few steps, you'll arrive at the Dom Duarte room, a unique wine room with several references to find out more about this booming wine region. Many from Dão and also some from Alentejo, here you can learn more about wine that will accompany your meal at the restaurant, or even try a different wine, which you can take with you or simply enjoy in this unique and unusual space.

“Antiqua et Nobilissima” (“Very Old and Very Noble”), Viseu is a town where history and stories merge at each step.

OUT

Viseu was initially integrated in the Portucalense County. Here, the first Royal family had its residence, Queen and Teresa, the wife of Count Henrique, granted it the charter in 1123, even before the Kingdom of Portugal was established (1143).

The Lusitanians left us their name, their character and the figure of the legendary Viriato, peasant and warrior, who became the symbol of the resistance against the Roman conquerors. From the primitive pre-historical communities to the Celts and Lusitanians, Romans, Suebi, Goths and Muslims — all left their mark and contributed to the town we enjoy today.

It is worth visiting places like the Cave of Viriato, the Sanctuary of “Nossa Senhora dos Remédios”, the architectural ensemble of the Cathedral, the Viseu Museums route, the Passeio dos Cónegos, the Alijube Tower and the Main Church.

FIND OUT

Located on top of what is known as the Viseu Plateau, the region owes its name to a warrior who exclaimed “Que visoeu?!” (What do I see?) when the enemy was approaching the city. It is surrounded by a mountainous system, composed of several ranges, including the Serra do Caramulo. Known for the curative properties of the waters of its ranges, the region is an invitation to rest and discover the history of men and places.
