PESTANA
POUSADA CONVENTO
BEJA
HISTORIC HOTEL
PORTUGAL

The first records of this Convent date back to 1268, when the S. Francisco Community appeared in Beja.

IN

The Pousada de Beja, created from the former Convent of São Francisco, is an Historic Hotel where luxury is reflected in every detail and attention, welcoming each guest with the finest treatment. The calm and serenity one feels within these centennial walls go side by side with the excellence of the service and the profusion of the scents of its regional gastronomy, offering an unique experience of absolute pleasure and indulgence to those seeking a true oasis on the plain of Alentejo Region.

In the old Franciscan refectory, devotion is created today to the best and most refined flavours of the Alentejo Region.

RESTAURANT OF THE POUSADA

It is said that the best meal is the one enjoyed with calm and concentration, during which nothing will distract you from its flavours.

The Restaurant of the Pousada de São Francisco still retains the friendly and relaxing atmosphere from the refectory of the Franciscan Monks.

It is the ideal setting to exercise all senses, inviting you to fully and slowly appreciate the traditional flavours of the gastronomy of the Alentejo Region.

During the Roman domain, Beja was called "Pax Julia", in celebration of the pacification of Lusitania territory.

OUT

Beja is an oasis of history and tranquillity. In the heart of the Alentejo plain, history and gastronomy play a crucial role. Historical records show that this region was already inhabited during the Bronze Age. In 48 B.C., the Roman Emperor Julius Caesar named the region as "Pax Julia" (the peace of Julius) and came to declare it the capital town. Beja was the stage of many conquests and econquests. A tour through the oldest streets of the city is a journey through its history.
